Steeped in History & Heritage

The Station House Hotel was once a bustling railway junction. Built in 1862, Kilmessan Railway Junction connected Dublin to the scenic heart of the Boyne Valley. City dwellers often travelled the 20 miles by train to enjoy fresh country air, fish in the Boyne River, and visit the Hill of Tara, a vibrant attraction still cherished today.

For one hundred years, it endured the test of time, even surviving a fire during the Irish Civil War, until it quietly retired in 1963.

The Slattery family purchased the property in 1981 and, in 1984, opened Signal Restaurant, establishing a business that would become a multi award-winning hotel & restaurant, and renowned wedding venue.

Now into its 5th decade and second generation of the Slattery family, the legacy of Kilmessan Junction lives on. Where a busy platform once stood, today lies a warm reception, fine cuisine by crackling fires, and an irresistibly romantic setting for your special day.

No heavy dreams upon her eyelids weigh,
Nor do her busy fingers ever stay;
She knows a fairy prince is on the way,
To wake a sleeping beauty

Unique & Outdoor

Welcome to The Station House Hotel

Congratulations to you both on your engagement and thank you for considering The Station House Hotel for your wedding day.

Originally a busy railway junction, The Station House became part of our lives in 1981 as a family home with five young children, two dogs, three cats and a pony! Whilst life was busy, our parents, Chris & Thelma Slattery loved to welcome guests, and in June 1983 registered The Station House with Bord Failte, and then opened Signal Restaurant in April 1984.

Since that fateful year, we've hosted the most beautiful of weddings here at The Station House and have so many wonderful memories from being part of that journey with our couples.

As a family-run business, we are truly passionate about what we do, however it's not just about us! We are proud to work with such a professional and dedicated team who always go that extra mile to deliver the most magical of days for all our wedding couples.

As a team, we hope to share our love of The Station House with you for your upcoming nuptials and look forward to helping you create your own wonderful memories here in the hotel.

Best wishes,

Deoise & Suzanne Slattery

And this same moon floats like a trail of fire,
Down the long Boyne, and darts white arrows thro',
The mill wood; her white skirt is on the weir,
She walks thro' crystal mazes of the day,
And rests awhile upon the dewy slope,
Where I will hope again the old old hope

The Turntable

Once used to turn engines back to Dublin, The Turntable now offers a charming, amphitheater-style setting for your outdoor ceremony, nestled within its original stone structure and surrounded by trees and nature. It accommodates up to 80 guests sitting within The Turntable, with plenty of additional seating space at the ground level above.

A group of wedding guests, including a groom and bridesmaids, are gathered around a bar, clinking glasses in a toast. The bar is well-stocked with bottles and has three ornate lanterns hanging from the ceiling. The scene is set in a sophisticated, classic-style bar.

The Platform Bar & Terrace

After the ceremony, guests move up to the Platform Bar & Terrace once a waiting area for Dublin bound passengers, now a stylish setting for drinks, canapés and pre-dinner entertainment.

Outside, the heated & covered terrace allows you and your guests to enjoy year-round al fresco drinks and entertainment, with giant parasols designed for the Alps, providing warmth and shelter whatever the weather.

From start to finish, the experience was magical and far exceeded all our expectations.

The Carriage Suite

Originally the engine room for Kilmessan Junction, The Carriage Suite now hosts enchanting weddings and parties.

With its own entrance hall, original granite walls and fairy-lit windows, this standalone venue offers an elegant, private setting for your indoor ceremony, wedding breakfast and reception, accommodating from 60 up to 180 guests comfortably.

I would give them a 100 stars if I could

Signal Restaurant

Housed in the main building, the multi award winning Signal Restaurant, once the station hall at Kilmessan Junction retains its historic charm with original features and an open fire.

Ideal for an intimate reception, it comfortably seats up to 60 guests for the most romantic of wedding dinner.

The Signal Suite

Described by many as the cutest bridal suite in Ireland, we tend to agree!

Originally the signal box with 37 levers used to switch the train tracks, it is now a standalone and private suite featuring the original Midland Great Western staircase and other gorgeous features.

A man in a dark blue tuxedo with a white shirt and black bow tie stands on a gravel path in a garden at night. He is looking to his left. The garden is filled with trees and foliage, and a large white stone planter with greenery is visible behind him. The scene is lit with soft, warm lights, creating a romantic atmosphere.

We'll talk about the loves of ancient queens,
And kisses like wasp-honey,
false and sweet,

And how we are entangled
in love's snares,
Like wind-looped flowers

THE CEREMONY

Does the venue need to do anything in order to register our wedding?

Where a representative from the HSE (the Irish Health Service) is solemnizing the marriage, the Civil Registration Office will provide you with a form for us to complete. Please send this to us promptly to avoid any delays. In the case of a humanist or secular ceremony, the Civil Registration Office will send the form directly to the hotel for us to complete. Please confirm this at your appointment.

What do I need to do to have my ceremony on site at The Station House Hotel?

All couples wishing to marry in the Republic of Ireland are required to serve a minimum of 3 months notice to a Registrar (of their intention to marry).

You must book an appointment with a Registrar in order to serve notice. Please note the 3 months notice period begins on the day that you both personally attend and meet with the Registrar at your appointment.

You can make an appointment with any Civil Registration Service via the online appointment booking system. The contact details of all Civil Registration Service offices and additional information pertaining to "Getting Married in the Republic of Ireland" are available at www.civilregistrationservice.ie.

Are there Churches nearby?

Like any good Irish village, we have an abundance of lovely Roman Catholic churches in the nearby vicinity and would recommend the following: Kilmessan, Dunsany, Culmullen, and Rathfeigh. For Protestant, Church of Ireland or Presbyterian ceremonies, we recommend St. Mary's Church of Ireland in Navan.

When can we have our speeches?

Speeches can take place during your pre-dinner drinks reception (with a finish time before 4.45pm), or after dinner in The Carriage Suite once the tea and coffee is served, or a combination of both.

Do you have a children's menu?

Yes, we do have a children's menu and can also serve half portions of your wedding menu, depending on your choice.

May we bring alcoholic wedding favours?

No, alcoholic favours are not allowed. If you would like to include a welcome drink at the table for your guests, we can provide this at an additional cost. Please speak with our Wedding Team for more details.

May we decorate the Carriage Suite or the grounds with our own props?

The total number of bottles allowed is limited to the equivalent of half a bottle of wine per guest and may only be served at The Wedding Breakfast. Similarly for Champagne and Prosecco, the total number of bottles allowed is limited to one glass per guest and may only be served at the Arrival Reception or the Wedding Breakfast.

May we, or our guests, bring our own alcohol to the hotel?

Other than alcohol served by our team, which is subject to a corkage fee (as outlined above), no other alcohol is allowed to be brought onto or consumed on the hotel premises.

Is there a complimentary menu tasting and who can attend?

All of our wedding packages include a complimentary Food & Wine Tasting Evening for the wedding couple, which usually takes place approximately 2 months before your wedding date.

This is a group event with other wedding couples, served in Signal Restaurant, where you get to sample a wide variety of dishes for each course and our standard banqueting wines. Can I book out the hotel exclusively for my wedding?
